

CONNECTIVITY

Employees are offered areas for intense collaboration adjacent to the administrative areas. This helps to establish connections for associates in the point of transition within a neighborhood as well as where each place connects to the next. Typically, associates are offered a formal conferencing environment or a more casual standing height adjacent on-deck space.

FIRST FLOOR

