

Revived Campus

The new building echos its predecessors precast construction but is brought to life through the introduction of vibrant terra cotta tiles, made approachable through larger expanses of glass and softened through subtle texture of formed panels and fritted glass

Exterior details - Terra cotta tiles, textured precast, and fritted glass

Existing Condition

The stark precast of the original 1960's building