

Unified Automotive and Contemporary Art Museum of Detroit

This automotive museum adaptively reuses one of Detroit's most controversial sites, the abandoned construction site of the Wayne County Jail. The museum is designed using the philosophy of phenomenology: how space is perceived and experienced through all of our senses.

